The event is carried out in collaboration with the Institute of Asian and African Studies, MSU and the Faculty of Political Science of Vietnam State University, Hanoi. Vietnamese scholars from other academic centers and universities are expected to take part.

The discussion in round table will address a number of questions on the results and decisions of the 13th Congress of the CPV. Based on this, it is planned to assess the realization of internal and external development goals and analyze the socio-economic situation in the country under CPV rule. The discussion will also focus on the important milestones in the Party history, implementation of its cultural, educational, scientific and technical policy.

The format of the upcoming round table includes plenary (the 1st day opening session) and regular sessions:

1. Targets and solutions of the 13th Congress of the CPV
2. Domestic political and economic development of Vietnam
3. Milestones and achievements of the CPV foreign policy
4. The history of CPV: new assessments and core events
5. Humanitarian aspects of the CPV policy

The working languages are Russian, English and Vietnamese (simultaneous translation). The supposed form of participation is either in person or online. Scientists, researchers and orientalist experts dealing with the subject of the round table are invited.

We are pleased to welcome interested colleagues to accept our invitation and support the discussion on above-mentioned issues. To join the round table, please submit an application form and abstracts (200-300 words) until 15.04.2021.

The outcome of the round table will be a collective monograph of its participants in English language “The Communist Party of Vietnam: 90 years of trials and victories”, which will be published in December 2021. The deadline for article submissions is June 15, 2021. The title will enter the RSCI and foreign databases. Several articles will be published in the international journal “The Vietnamese Studies” (Web of Science).
